

After the separation with our centrifuges, fresh cream must undergo further processing, which can be cooling, maturation, pasteurization, sterilization, enrichment, churning.

PIETRIBIASI produces maturation tanks in every size, with scraping mixing devices for gentle agitation, jacketed for hot or ice water circulation, positive pumps for product caring transfer, and complete skid mounted cream treatment systems.